

FRENCH GOVT. CHIEF OF DELEGATION OF THE WASHINGTON NAVAL AGREEMENT

Premier Poincaré Informs Chamber of Deputies That the Government Will Stand or Fall on Their Decision—Indications Are That the Chamber Has Practically Agreed Upon Ratification—Poincaré's Recommendation Includes the Brandegee Amendment That "There is No Commitment of Armed Force, No Alliance, No Obligation to Join Any Defence".

Paris, Dec. 22.—(By the A. P.)—The French government today committed itself through a recommendation made to the foreign affairs commission of the chamber of deputies by Premier Poincaré to stand or fall on the question of ratification of the Washington naval agreement.

At the same time, Poincaré, seconded by the stand of M. Poincaré on the question, which also embraced the four power treaty as amended in the United States senate by Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut. The premier declared that the reservation of Mr. Brandegee would in no way "entail military participation."

That the chamber was practically agreed upon ratification was shown when M. Briand, leader of the left, and André Tardieu, head of the Clemenceau, both announced their support.

Georges Mandel, former chief of the cabinet under Premier Clemenceau, alone was absent. M. Sarraut, who signed the final documents in Washington as a member of the Poincaré cabinet, although accompanied by M. Briand, staunchly advocated ratification.

Premier Poincaré's recommendation carried the provision that the agreement be understood in the American sense, stipulating in effect that the accords did not convey any intimation of military participation.

The premier indicated especially upon ratification of the Washington accords concerning the Pacific ocean, which, perhaps, he said, "will not be a treaty, but will place us in a superior position in our relations with the United States."

Charles Guérin, general reporter for the foreign affairs commission, disagreed completely with the government point of view, and complained of the failure of the American authorities to produce the French translation of the Washington negotiations until four days ago, when "the immense volume of 2,800 pages" was delivered to the commission.

"We have been very well treated by Washington," Premier Poincaré told the commission with reference to the navy.

ARRESTS OF HOODED MEN IN THREE STATES EXPECTED
New Rouge, La., Dec. 22.—Bodies of two men blown from the bottom of Lake Lafourche early today by unidentified dynamite, said to be the work of the Ku Klux Klan, were found in the water.

The bodies, badly mutilated and bound with wire, are believed by the authorities to be those of Walter Daniels and Thomas Nichols, members of a party of five Mississippi citizens who were kidnapped last August by white-robed and hooded men.

For the past three days the bodies of these men have been dragged by national guardsmen, federal agents and professional divers.

Authorities here state they are satisfied the bodies are those of the missing men and close friends of the missing men stayed the bodies during the day and night, and it was reported that clothing found on the men were recognized.

The governor announced tonight an inquest would be held over the bodies, probably tomorrow. The arrival of the attorney general of the state and two prominent pathologists of New Orleans is awaited.

In the absence of official information, the next move on the part of the state was not known, but it was the consensus of opinion the inquest would be followed by the arrest of at least twenty persons, alleged ringleaders of the August mob.

The names will be presented to the military or civil authorities by the four departments of justice agents who, for four months, have been conducting secret investigations, it was stated.

Mr. Rolfe citizens expressed themselves tonight as believing the anticipated arrests. All persons will be free to come into this court of justice, under the Louisiana laws, and tell what they know of the case.

Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana persons are believed by the state as having been members of the hooded mob, arrested in all three states are anticipated.

Taking the floor after Premier Taschereau had expressed to Cardinal Begin the regrets of the legislature at the loss of the famous basilica, Arthur Suave, leader of the opposition, said:

"I would not be well to question whether this fire is not the work of a criminal organization? That is in the air, and I call the attention of the assembly to the fact that within a year we have had to deplore losses of that kind every month."

A short report of the electrical wiring which was first brought to the attention of the police, the following letter postmarked in Montreal:

"I will burn your church down on December 28th."
